Silent Observer: There are thirty-deaf-mutes living in Knoxville, Tenn. Is this not an astonishingly large number for such a small place?

The Chilhowee Mountains to the southeast of the city have been beautifully covered with snow for the last day or two, as could be seen from eminences about the city.

A lawyer who tried to break a mule's will found out that there is such a thing as being too well heeled. A card now on his door reads: "Will be back in three weeks."

Greenville New Era: A revival has been in progress at Brownsboro, and, on the 9th inst., Rev. J. H. Moore baptized seventeen converts in the Nola Chucky River, near the mouth of Clear Creek.

The citizens of Knoxville and Knox county will find the new B. Howe Sewing Machine, which unites the good improvements of all others, making a perfect machine, at an extremely low price, at W. W. Woodruff & Co's.

The departure of March was almost quite as lamb-like as the coming in, contrary to the old adage. April, however, came in rather unfavorable, and the indications are that some of the March weather that wasn't will be made up for during this month.

The Silent Observer, which has been silent for some time, is again revived, and it has reached our table. It is quite an interesting and readable little sheet, gotten up in good style, and contains much news devoted to the interest of the deaf and dumb institutions of the country. It is printed at the Tennessee Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, in this city, printing being one of the branches taught there, and Mr. L. A. Houghton is editor.

Personal.

Capt. Isham Newman and sister came down from Mossy Creek yesterday and are registered at the Altkin House.

Rev. J. A. Lyons, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, at Athens, is in the city on a visit to relatives.

Gen. J. T. Wilder and Capt. H. S. Chamberlain, of Chattanooga, were in the city yesterday, stopping at the Altkin House.

Local Spring.

We learn that already there are several guests at Tate Spring, among them Hon. A. Caldwell, and that he has improved much in health since his stay there. Other guests are expected soon, and the prospects for the coming season are very bright. We are glad to hear of the good prospects of the springs as the superior medical qualities of the water as well as the good management of the hotel deserves a liberal patronage.

HAWKINS, BUTT, DEPUÉ & CO.

A Good Beginning.

Three boxes of valuable books have just been received for the library of Knoxville College. The principal box is the proceeds of a donation of $300 from Mrs. Jane Brown, of Harrisburg, Pa. The second box is a donation from the United Presbyterian Board of Publication in Pittsburgh, Pa., and the third box is a valuable lot of old books from Mrs. Jane Cummins, of Pennsylvania. A new case has been procured for their safe-keeping, so that, with additional reading desks for papers, the Reading Room will be an attractive place for students who wish to improve their time by storing the mind with useful knowledge.

From Yesterday's Second Edition
12,000 MILES ON HORSEBACK.

Arrival of the Patagonian Expedition in Knoxville.

They are hospitably entertained and start on their way.

Our readers have already heard of the excursion organized by Col. Tudor, in New York, to go on horseback to Patagonia, the very southern point of South America. The party consists now of Col. Henry St. Patrick Tudor, a former officer of the English army, the founder and commander of the excursion, Dr. Louis Henry Ayme, of New York, Surgeon and Scientist, and Mr. Jas. Neil Hamilton, Adjutant. They came last Saturday evening to Prof. Beaman's farm, near the city, where they camped over Saturday. (They never travel on Sundays.) About 11 o'clock yesterday morning they appeared on Gay street, attracting much attention, and were subjected to numerous questions. They are well equipped for the journey. Col. Tudor and Hamilton ride horse back, the Doctor drives a sulky carrying their luggage, consisting of a tent, cooking utensils, etc. The sulky will be dispensed with soon and less luggage will be carried.

About the first of our citizens the excursionists struck an acquaintance with was Sheriff Reeder, who made himself very serviceable to them. They got a valise from the Express office here, which they had shipped ahead. They stopped to take a shave and wash and change underwear, and, by invitation, sat for their pictures at McCrary & Branson's gallery.

It was their intention only to make a stop of an hour or so in the city, and continue their journey, but mine host, John Schert, of the Lamar House, who is ever alive to the interests of the community, would not admit of such a go by, but would have that they should be his free guests till this morning, which pressing and kindly invitation they finally accepted.

Last night, by arrangement of Sheriff Reeder, and at the solicitation of many citizens, the Doctor made a talk at the court house, where had assembled a large crowd of interested listeners, notwithstanding the noise was so short. His talk was quite interesting indeed, proposing to outline in brief who they are, what they have done, and what they propose to do, questions which are so often propounded to them. The following facts obtained therefrom may be read with some interest. Col. Tudor left New York about midnight on the 12th of February last, with a companion, who afterward deserted him, and Mr. Hamilton joined him at Fredericksburg, Va. The Doctor himself became a party at Lynchburg, having read in the Herald the morning after the Colonel started, which was his first information of it. They make from 20 to 25 miles per day, on an average, always resting over Sabbath, and have accomplished near 1,000 miles of the journey. They observe strict military rules and regulations as to camping and traveling.

The Doctor affirmed very emphatically that they are not on a wager, or sent out by any paper or other enterprise, but it is simply the private enterprise of Col. Tudor, gotten up of his own volition. Their object, aside from the pleasure they enjoy along the route—and they seem to be enjoying it hugely—is to explore that wild and uninhabited (except by savage Indians) country, with no form of government. Also to discover the vast undeveloped resources, the most important of which are its mines of tin. If successful, the Colonel will return to the country and set up a government and begin the work of civilization. He mapped out their proposed route till they leave the borders of civilization. After going through Chattanooga, Memphis, Little Rock, Texarkana, etc., they will leave the United States at Brownsville, Texas. Before reaching this point they expect a number of recruits.

The Doctor received hearty applause and introduced Col. Tudor, who supplemented the remarks already made, and elicited some warm applause by the recitation of poem from Longfellow. The Colonel started out with the determination of never sleeping in a bed till he returns, and it is impossible to get him to do so. He takes notes as he passes through the country, and furnishes them to English journals for publication, which will be valuable in the way of immigration.

They leave early this morning, and will stop, and the Doctor will lecture, at Athens Thursday night, by invitation of Prof. Beaman. They expect to reach Chattanooga about the 7th. Their calculations are to reach the point of destination in September, 1880, and returning by ship, they expect to receive callers in Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York, January 1st, 1881.

They were very much delighted with their hospitable treatment here, and said many good words for Knoxville. The Doctor's horse is the same they started with, and they avow that they will take it through, if they have to carry it, and bring it back with them, and the Colonel shall enter New York riding it on his return.

CONSUMPTION CURED.
An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility, and all nervous complaints, after having tested this wonderful curative power in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to all who desire it this receipt with full directions for preparing and using in German, French and English. Sent by mail by address with stamp naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers Block, Rochester, New York.

ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS

Of the Recent Revenue Raid into the Blackwater Region.

More Violation and Resistance Than Ever Known in that Region.
Our readers have already been briefly informed of the operations of the revenue raid which left this city Wednesday, March 23rd, to look after violations of the revenue law up in the Blackwater and other regions of Hancock county. Deputy Collector W. B. Cooper, with part of the force, returned on the early train yesterday morning. Capt. Geo. W. Atkinson, Agent of the Revenue Department, with others, came down on the noon train, and others are still to come. In all, there was a force of about eighteen men.

E. G. Head, the Justice by whom the officials were acquitted of any legal wrong in the killing of Dave Berry, on Friday, as was detailed in Sunday's CHRONICLE, was the owner of the still in which Berry was found, was arrested, and is now on bond to appear at court. The still was in full blast, and when the squad approached, Berry and the others inside were called upon to surrender, but they paid no attention. As the officials started to enter, Berry made for and got hold of the Wright's gun, at the same time making for some kind of weapon. Wright fired his gun while Berry had hold, and Bud Lindsay, another of the officers, then fired, the shot penetrating Berry's breast and mouth, causing his death, after lingering some time. As has been stated, the officers were cleared of any guilt, it being clearly a case of defense.

Dave Berry was almost a terror to the community. He was a refugee from Virginia for some crime, and had said he would die before he would ever be taken back. No one seemed to manifest any regret that the community was rid of him.

As the raiders were making their way towards home Sunday they were fired upon by a squad of nine of the moonshiners, on Big Creek, Claiborne county, near the scene of the late tragedy in the Epperson family, publication of which was made. They returned the fire and put their attackers to flight, though no one was hit on either side. They had seized and cut up a still before this, a brand new one, which was just being put into operation. Further on they ran on to a large still in very successful operation, belonging to Henry Sutton, which was also captured. Monday morning, soon after starting out, they found another still very near to where they staid all night. They found several places on the trip where stills had been removed and hid away, and they suffered no little inconvenience in finding them by parties carrying the news ahead of them.

Eight arrests were made on the trip. Six were bound over before Commissioner Scarborough, at Tazewell, and five jailed. Among the prisoners are some of the worst and most daring violators in that country, and old offenders. Ten distilleries were seized and five copper stills cut up.

The officers affirm that there is as much, if not more, violation of the law now going on in that region of country than ever before known, and they are bolder in their resistance. This state of affairs is due almost entirely to the utterances of political demagogues and demagogical publications, which are intended to incite and arouse the prejudices of this class of men, and these are some of the fruits.

Remedy for Hard Times.
Stop Spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way, and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read of it in another column.
